

Where'd you go? } for orthopedic care.

In St. Louis people always ask, "Where'd you go to high school?" They also might ask where you went for orthopedic care. And people like John Klipsch are saying great things about St. Anthony's Medical Center. For the former Vianney High tackle and restaurant owner, that says a lot for a guy who's always on his feet. So when he needed a total knee replacement, he turned to a St. Anthony's. The new Ortho-Spine Center has one of the region's largest orthopedic programs and leads the St. Louis area in hip and knee replacements.

In high school, the football team threw a few Hail Mary passes. In life, John wasn't taking any risks with his knees. He went to St. Anthony's, and the best team got him back in the game of life.
